

CEPIS
Council of European Professional
Informatics Societies

Welcome to the April issue of the CEPIS Member Update. CEPIS is now fully compliant with the EU Web Accessibility Directive and ITPE has held the webinar 'Software tech – how it will drive skills and business solutions' on 5 April. Discover all this and more below!

CEPIS website now fully compliant with Web Accessibility Directive

The digital accessibility team of the University of Alcalá de Henares (UAH) has verified the compliance of CEPIS web content with the standard EN 301-549, as of January 2022.

Read the full article.

Competent and careful. Recognised and respected.

ITPE holds webinar on software skills

On 5 April, ITPE held the webinar 'Software tech – how it will drive skills and business solutions'.

Read the full article.

New 'DigComp 2.2' released

The European Commission has released the updated Digital Competence Framework for Citizens – DigComp 2.2.

Read the full article.

'Ethics as a Service' – bringing Ethical AI from principle to practice

The increase in the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) has proliferated discussion on its ethical aspect.

Read the full article.

Commission launches Earth's 'digital twin' to help tackle climate change

On 30 March, the European Commission together with partner organisations launched the 'Destination Earth'-initiative to help tackle climate change.

Read the full article.

More news

Industry stakeholders highlight digital education for closing skills and gender gaps

ENISA promotes European Cybersecurity Skills Framework for cybersecurity workforce

Commission launches 'Kohesio' platform

Upcoming events

28 April CEPIS Digital Skills Policy group meeting. Online

29 April-1 May GI Women in Tech conference on cybersecurity. Naumburg/Saale, Germany.

4 May CEPIS Women in ICT TF meeting. Athens, Greece

5 May CEPIS Council meeting. Athens, Greece/Online (hybrid).

23-24 June Annual Privacy Forum 2022. Warsaw, Poland

CEPIS

Avenue Roger Vandendriessche 18

1150 Brussels, Belgium

Amsterdam, Nederland - Belgisch centrum van Werkzaamheden. Ondernemingsnr: 0880.146.128